Biped's Monitor will create a leafy haven in a secret urban location?

The Times Saturday Review
Secret location now revealed:

BIPED'S MONITOR is a unique site specific performance devised by ARBONAUTS. Created for the chapel and trees of Nunhead Cemetery and performed at nightfall. The events will unfold above and around the audience as they perambulate in this early 19th century cemetery. Based on Italo Calvino's extraordinary folktale The Baron in the Trees. Please dress for weather conditions.

DATES: 14th 15th 16th June 2012, Nightfall, 8.30pm
PRICE: £12 per ticket, ONLY 50 TICKETS PER NIGHT available from the Arbonauts website

£2 from each ticket goes to the Friends of Nunhead Cemetery.

A bit of background to Arbonauts:

We have a passionate environmentally orientated ethos. We are an emergent company, and have recently achieved support from IdeasTap GREENFUND for this project. We have negotiated with Southwark council for the past 5 months to use the trees and chapel of Nunhead Cemetery for our forthcoming performance BIPED'S MONITOR. Arbonauts have pioneered this licensed use of the cemetery, having done so we hope to enable and encourage more cultural events of this nature in other urban green spaces. We are delighted to have NOOSPHERE Pods in our production, flat pack tree dwellings. We are encouraging audience members to travel by bicycle to and from the location.
